

Albury-Wodonga Health

Albury-Wodonga Health (AWH) recently implemented HPV's Procurement Portal based on the BravoAdvantage™ 'software as a service' (SaaS) system.

After successfully integrating BravoAdvantage™' eSourcing, Supplier Base Management, Contract Management and Workflow modules into its procurement process, AWH now expects to implement the Supplier Value Management module when it becomes available.

"BravoAdvantage™'s contract management and workflow modules have improved the visibility of our spend under contract," said AWH Contracts Manager David Owens.

"It's early days – and already BravoAdvantage™ has been a boon for our compliance obligations under HPV's Health Purchasing Policies by providing a trackable audit trail for interrogation," he said.

"Importantly, the data we have been able to access about our spend under contract has given us a much clearer picture of our procurement activity.

"We expect it will enhance our ability to get the most out of our procurement budget, ultimately helping us to maximise our available resources and enhance patient care."

Get BravoAdvantage™ working for you

HPV has agreed to an elastic license model – making the application more cost-effective the more health services join.

HPV is committed to ensuring Victorian health services have access to state of the art systems. For health services wishing to implement BravoAdvantage™, there is a one-off variable implementation cost which increases in line with the number of licences and modules selected.

HPV can help health services choose the right module(s) for their requirements, and step through the process to get BravoAdvantage™ up and running.

HPV will fund BravoAdvantage™ licensing fees until June 2018

About BravoAdvantage™

The health service supply chain challenge

Health service procurement managers face many challenges in striving to improve patient health care.

Implementing efficient contract management processes, ensuring procurement compliance and exploring ways to further reduce costs are just some of the everyday issues health services encounter.

BravoAdvantage™ helps hospitals increase their visibility of contract information, maintain appropriate contract records and monitoring, and importantly, manage compliance with HPV's Health Purchasing Policies.
